

ABSTRACT

A film forming method comprise the steps of forming a F-doped carbon film by using a source gas
5 containing C and F, and modifying the F-doped carbon film by radicals, the source gas having a F/C ratio, defined as a ratio of a number of F atoms to a number of C atoms in the source gas molecule, wherein the F/C ratio is larger than 1 but smaller than 2.